

TestShell Remote-Runner

Multi-platform lightweight test executor

TestShell Remote-Runner is a test execution application that runs TestShell specific test steps or complete scenarios on remote stations. Remote-Runner is compatible with a large variety of operating systems. As a powerful yet lightweight application, Remote-Runner enables the launch of any script or protocol on a remote machine, without requiring complex infrastructure.

- Lightweight application
- Cross-platform support
- Effortless installation requires no special infrastructure
- Easy execution of any script, protocol or executable command line
- Monitoring and control of Runner client action and access

Highlights

Features and Benefits

Perform remote test execution with minimal preparations

- Effortless installation on any machine due to lightweight and simple pre-requisites
- Compatible with all leading operating systems such as Windows , Linux , Solaris , Mac OS X , VxWorks ,DOS and others, including leading Mobile OSs such as Windows mobile, Symbian BREW , RIM (Blackberry) and more

Easily track remote execution

- Automatic feedback via test status reports
- Transparent operation for simple local execution tracking

Significantly extend your TestShell Runner Client capabilities and control

- Remote launch any server request including Tcl, JavaScript, VBScript, Perl, Batch files and other scripts, protocols or executable command lines
- Simultaneous access from multiple TestShell Runner clients
- Simple monitoring of any test or step execution on any station or machine